Brief Overview of the Course
This course introduces students to the sociology of culture, understood as an area of study that examines (one) social influences on cultural developments, and (2) cultural influences on social processes. While there is a distinct set of objects, practices, and organizations that are explicitly “cultural” (e.g., art, music, food, fashion) most of what we call “culture” happens beyond those domains. Thus, in this course, we will examine culture not as those narrow domains, but as an approach to the study of social processes; that is, as shared meanings, shared orientations to the world, shared repertoires of action, or socio-cognitive schemas that shape social life.

The focus of this course is on the role of culture, the widely shared values, beliefs, logics of action, and practices that create patterns in the social world. This course is organized around theoretical approaches rather than substantive areas of research, with the goal of providing students with analytical tools to understand the social world, instead of with sets of examples about how “culture” works here or there. We will consider the role of culture in large societal contexts, as well as in small, delimited settings (e.g., occupations).

The course will begin with an overview of classical texts in sociology. These texts were written prior to the advent of the sociology of culture, but they provided the analytical, epistemological, and methodological foundation from which later approaches were developed. From the classics, the course will move to more contemporary times, and review some of the most important theories and perspectives in the sociology of culture of the past few decades. By the end of the course, students will have been introduced to several of the major perspectives in the sociology of culture, and should have gained a basic understanding of how culture shapes social processes.

IMPORTANT NOTE: The prerequisite to take this course is SOC100H1. Students without this prerequisite will be removed at any time they are discovered.
Class Format, Requirements, and Grading

1- in-class test, October 25 .......................... 25%
2- take-home test, due November 22 ................. 40%
3- in-class test, December 6 .......................... 25%
4- in-class quizzes ..................................... 10%

Attendance
Attendance is expected. Students are responsible for all material presented in class. Students who are unable to attend class are responsible for obtaining information about any announcements that may have been made in class as well as notes on the material covered from their classmates. Make sure you have classmates who can share this information with you if you are unable to attend.

Deadlines: Late work will not be accepted unless submitted with proper documentation. See below for details.

Documentation from your Physician or College Registrar
If you miss a test or a paper deadline, do not contact the instructor unless you have followed the steps described here.

Students who miss the test, or are late in submitting an assignment for medical reasons, need to email the instructor (not the TA), and also declare their absence on the system (ACORN).
(NOTE: Because of Covid-19, students do NOT need to submit the usual documentation, i.e., medical notes or the Verification of Illness forms).

Students who miss the test, or are late in submitting an assignment for other reasons, such as family or other personal reasons, should request their College Registrar to email the instructor.

Readings
BOOK SELECTIONS AND JOURNAL ARTICLES Book selections and all journal articles will be available on the Quercus course website, under “Course Materials.”

Students are solely responsible for obtaining and reading all required materials before class. Give yourself enough time to deal with any problems or delays accessing the readings that may arise so you can be sure to come to class prepared to discuss the materials. Problems accessing readings will not excuse failure to demonstrate having done the required readings.
Assignments

In-class Test
There will be two in-class closed-book tests on October 25 and December 6.

Make-up Test
Students who miss the test for a valid reason and wish to take a make-up test must give the instructor a written request for special consideration -- no later than 5 days after the date of the test -- which explains why the test was missed, accompanied by proper documentation (see above). A student who misses a test and the subsequent make-up test for a valid reason will not have a third chance to take the test, and the mark assigned for the test will be a zero.

Take-home Test
The take-home test is due on November 22, and it should be no more than 2,000 words (double spaced, 12 point type). Students will receive the questions before the Reading Week. Take-home tests are to be submitted at the beginning of the class on the due date in TWO forms: as hard copy, and electronic copy to be submitted to Quercus. Take-home tests are not to be submitted via email or fax, or to the receptionist at the Department of Sociology.

Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to the University’s plagiarism detection tool for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the tool’s reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University’s use of this tool are described on the Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation web site (https://uoft.me/pdt-faq).

Assignments not submitted through Quercus to the plagiarism detection tool will receive a grade of zero (0 %) unless students instead provide, along with their exams, sufficient secondary material (e.g., reading notes, outlines of the paper, rough drafts of the final draft, etc.) to establish that the exam they submit is truly their own. This alternative is in place because, strictly speaking, using a plagiarism detection tool is voluntary for students at the University of Toronto.

Plagiarism: Be careful to avoid plagiarism. It is a serious academic offense with serious penalties (see the “Code of Behavior on Academic Matters”). If you are using somebody else’s ideas, do not present them as your own. Give proper references if you are using somebody else’s ideas, and use quotation marks if you are quoting. When in doubt, it is always safer to over-reference --you are not going to be punished for that. Please also be aware that turning in an old paper, or large parts thereof, for credit in a second (or third etc.) course, is considered an academic offense that results in students being referred off to the Office of Academic Integrity.
In-class Quizzes
There will be a short quiz during each class meeting, except the first class and when there are in-class tests, so this amounts to 9 quizzes in total. Each quiz will consist of one question based on the day’s readings. Each quiz is worth 1%, but you get to choose one quiz -- at the time of writing it in class -- that will amount to 2%. There is no make-up for quizzes. If you did not come to class, you get 0% on the day’s quiz, unless you have official documentation (as noted above).

Accessibility Needs
The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility. If you require accommodations for a disability, or have any accessibility concerns about the course, the classroom or course materials, please contact Accessibility Services as soon as possible: _disability.services@utoronto.ca_ or _http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility_.
