Course Expectations

This course will be conducted remotely via the use of Quercus and Zoom. It is necessary for you to familiarize yourself with these platforms in order to contact the instructor, and to receive the course content. Lectures will be conducted synchronously. They will be conducted via Zoom during the scheduled class times. It is your responsibility to attend these lectures virtually and give them the same attention as you would in a regular in-person lecture (i.e. video on, audio on). Anticipate that each lecture will require two hours of your attention. Attendance and participation are worth 10% of your final grade. In other words, each class you attend and participate in is worth 1% of your grade up to a maximum of 10%. You need to attend and participate in at least 10 classes, beginning July 10, to get 10%. This course is unique in the sense that each meeting will have both a seminar and workshop component to it. This means that you should prepare for each lecture by completing the readings ahead of time, producing a small written reflection on the readings assigned for that week, and thinking through your project and the required next steps. There will be seminar questions at the end of each lecture which will give you an opportunity to earn participation marks.

Communication

All communication will be conducted during lecture, office hours, or by official University of Toronto e-mail. E-mail correspondence will be conducted only from official University of Toronto’s e-mails. In other words, do not send me an e-mail from your @hotmail, @gmail, @live account – it will be auto-filtered to my spam folder and will remain unanswered. All successful correspondence will be answered within 48 business hours from time of reception barring any complications of which you will have due notice. Please indicate the course code (SOC486H1S) in the subject line.
Late Assignments

Unless otherwise specified, all assignments must be submitted on Quercus before the beginning of class (i.e., by 12pm noon) on the due date provided. Since the scaffolding assignments are low-stakes (\(<=25\%\) each) and designed to keep students on task with the larger course project, late submissions will not be accepted, and grades will not be reweighed to earlier or later assignments.

For the final project submission, late assignments will be penalized 10 percentage points per day (starting at 12:01pm on the due date), including weekend days. Work handed in late should be submitted to Quercus per usual. Late assignments will not be accepted via email, and assignments later than 5 days will not be accepted.

Requests for Extensions

Students are responsible for submitting term work in accordance with the timeline outlined on the course schedule. Requests for extensions will not be considered within 72 hours of an assignment deadline, with the exception of students experiencing serious illness and/or unforeseen circumstances (such as a death in the family). In these cases, students are expected to contact the professor at the earliest available opportunity, so that accommodations can be arranged. Students should also declare their absence on the due date on ACORN. It is additionally advised that students take the proactive step of contacting their college Registrar.

Re-Grading Assignments

All requests for re-grading course assignments should be made to the instructor within one week of the date when the assignments are returned to the class. A short memo that clearly states specific reasons to justify the request and backs up these reasons with evidence from your assignment must be submitted to the instructor. No re-grading requests will be considered if they are submitted more than one week after the assignments are returned to the class. This deadline applies to all students including those who missed the class when the assignments were returned.
Ouriginal

Sometimes, students will be required to submit their assignments to the University’s plagiarism detection tool for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the tool’s reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University’s use of this tool are described on the Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation web site (https://uoft.me/pdt-faq).

For some of your assignments, we will be using the software Ouriginal. It uses text matching technology as a method to uphold the University’s high academic integrity standards to detect any potential plagiarism. Ouriginal is integrated into Quercus. For the assignments set up to use Ouriginal, the software will review your paper when you upload it to Quercus. To learn more about Ouriginal’s privacy policy please review its Privacy Policy.

Students not wishing their assignment to be submitted through Ouriginal will not be assessed unless a student instead provides, along with their work, sufficient secondary material (e.g., reading notes, outlines of the paper, rough drafts of the final draft, etc.) to establish that the paper they submit is truly their own.

Writing Centres

All students are encouraged to visit and make use of the available writing centres. Writing tutors may help you brainstorm ideas, develop a thesis, structure and organize your paper, present your evidence effectively, argue logically, cite appropriately and express yourself clearly and concisely. However, proofreading and copyediting for spelling, grammar, or format are not within the primary scope of the writing centres. Please visit http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/writing-centres/arts-and-science

Accessibility

The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility. If you require accommodations or have any accessibility concerns, please visit http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility as soon as possible. If you are registered with Accessibility Services, please forward your accommodations paperwork to the professor within the first two weeks of the course so that arrangements can be made. Accommodations must be requested and arranged for each course assignment/test/exam for which they are sought. Accommodations will not be implemented retroactively.
Academic Integrity/Academic Misconduct

The University of Toronto treats academic integrity and academic misconduct very seriously. To participate honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in the academic community at U of T, you should familiarize yourself with the University of Toronto’s Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/Assets/Governing+Council+Digital+Assets/Policies/PDF/ppjun011995.pdf).

In addition, students should acquaint themselves with the rules concerning plagiarism and other forms of academic misconduct, including but not limited to:

- Using someone else’s ideas or words without appropriate acknowledgement.
- Copying material word-for-word from a source without quotation marks.
- Including references to sources that you did not use.
- Obtaining or providing unauthorized assistance on any assignment including (e.g.) working in groups on assignments that are supposed to be individual work.
- Lending your work to a classmate who submits it as his/her own.
- Letting someone else look at your answers on a test.
- Falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University.
